The Tower Staff Says--

By recording a few of the events filling the past college year, another Tower has been submitted to you--the student body. We hope that in the coming years some of the pages will bring to you remembrances of college life--its joys as well as its trials and tribulations. If this has been accomplished, our primary purpose has been realized.

The Tower staff at this time would like to thank the student body and faculty for your cooperation throughout the year. Not forgotten are the many valuable suggestions submitted by faculty and students.

The staff hopes that these suggestions have been incorporated in such a manner that the student body is represented. This is your annual!

Faculty Notes

Dr. John Harr, chairman of the social science department, wrote an article for the Missouri Social Science Bulletin on the relationship between training and critical thinking and the development of civic responsibility.

The main thesis is any civic training which is done by schools today that doesn't emphasize to a considerable degree the development to think critically about current issues is inadequate.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Blackwell and Roger Dale plan a fishing trip in Minnesota the first week in June and then will spend the summer in Columbia where Mr. Blackwell will continue graduate study in the University.

Speech Department Purchases Equipment Valued at $5,000

Speech majors in forthcoming years are going to be learning speech and drama techniques with new facilities. The College has recently purchased more adequate staging equipment at a cost of $5,000, according to an announcement by Mr. Ralph E. Fulsom, chairman of the speech department.

The lighting system received the first consideration as it was weakest and most in need of repair. Beam spots were obtained and installed to light the forestage. The six 1000 watt parabolic spots have special features which include the iris and built-in shutters, allowing mechanic control of areas to be lighted. They are also used for follow spots on dancers and other entertainers.

Everyone is waiting for the completion of Mr. George Gayler's new house, and also for the new addition to the Dr. Glenn J. Hoffman family.

Dr. Irene Mueller, Miss Olive DeLuce, Dr. H. G. Dildine, and Mr. Dale Blackwell served on the committee to select honorees for the AAUP honors banquet.

Dr. Frank W. Grube, chairman of the English department, gave the after dinner talk at the athletic dinner at Eagleville, May 3. On May 4, he spoke at the Horace Mann Junior-Senior banquet. May 13 he spoke at the commencement exercises at Polo.

Dr. Leon F. Miller, chairman of the division of education, spoke on the "Power of Education to Motivate Human Conduct" at the annual AAUP honors banquet on Friday night, May 14.

Dr. Kelley Sowards has been working in the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., on material for the humanities. He will be back through Maryville sometime this summer.

THE STROLLER

Car owners planning to return to college next fall request that the college roads be repaired. They maintain their cars have depreciated entirely too much by driving over the big holes in the road this year.

One sophomore tells a tall tale about his car falling into one of the holes and staying there.

Nightly food sellers at the Quads, Lex Creamer and Ono Monachino, had a profit losing upset last week. Their box of malts spilled down a flight of stairs, making a layer of ice cream on the steps. It was a sad sight to see that malty mess; however, the hamburgers were saved.

It's Commencement--

Commencement services will soon climax four years of College for seventy-four of your classmates and friends. Seventy-four students who stopped here for four years to take the best that was offered in education, and give the best they had to this--your way of life. Seventy-four mature men and women who are starting out into a world which will be better for their contributions--a free world in which to live and grow--a world in which people hold sacred their memories of college life.

Commencement time is a sad time. We tend to think of it as that goal gratefully reached after the struggle. Yes, it is rather sad to break away from old ties and loyalties, old friends and a place you've learn to love as "home." Sad to realize that you are left standing alone, independent, in a world of hinder-ing chaos.

But we should think of it also as a time of gladness. Soon each will walk in the way of his chosen profession--will have the opportunity to prove himself as a leader of the people. This is the time of transition; soon you will be in the swim.

Will Attend Breakfast
Seniors will attend their annual Senior Breakfast May 27, at 8:30 a. m., at the Union.

Speech Laboratory Provides Practical Class Experience

By MRS. JANET REW

Miss Jean Kinnie, of the speech department, decided to give her speech correction class "practical experience." For the first time in the history of the college a speech laboratory was set up this year.

No money was set aside for such a project, but undiscouraged, Miss Kinnie opened the door of the old Bearcat Den in the administration building and proceeded to buy games and materials with her own money and to cut colorful pictures by the hundreds from catalogues.

They're Talking About . . .

Senior Sharpies . . . exempt from finals . . . lag around the campus talking about parties, dates, spring, and no exams . . . Is there no justice? . . . fear 'em, don't join 'em.

Subtle sessions over dead frogs . . . real cool cadavers . . . and right before lunch too.

The Tower . . . permanent memories of the good old college days . . . everyone standing around gawking at their picture . . . "It is too me!"

Newsweek magazine, in a circular, says this about starting salaries this June . . . "Teachers--jobs literally begging from $2000 (elementary school) to $5000 (high school)."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch . . . points out that the trend is toward candidates with leadership qualities . . . not high grades.

Summer . . . in all its glory, of course . . . all your friends scattered hither and yon . . . a good time to brush up on such incidents as . . . grade deficiencies, unread books, sleep, your teeth . . . you name it.

Commencement . . . Baccalaureate . . . Dr. Mildred Sandison Fenner and the Rev. Virgil L. Vaughn . . . two distinguished speakers . . . who have a message that should be an inspiration for all students.

Only one more week . . . but it's never too late . . . an extra burning of the midnight oil may be the thin line dividing success and--we will not mention that foul word.

This edition ties up your chances of getting a well-rounded, unbiased, superbly written (Egad! this is conceited editorializing) paper.

Seriously though . . . we'll all be back next year . . . for bigger and better times.

Independent Club

Despite the chilly weather and threat of rain about 30 members enjoyed a hayride May 4. Those in charge of refreshments were Angie Adams, Beverly Porter, and Katherine Smith. Recreation was led by Wayne McDaniels, Helen Bills, and Harold Gray. Transportation was provided by Bud Williams.

Plans are being made for activities next fall. The club plans to make the fall "hobo party" a traditional event for the freshmen.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

YOUR NORTHWEST MISSOURIAN STAFF winds up what we hope has been a favorable year in the publication of your college paper. It has been a rather long and hard year meeting deadlines, searching for news, and reporting the events of your life. Looks as though the alma mater is almost ready to close for one whole glorious week before summer session begins.

All seniors were pleased with their gifts given them by the alumnae. The alums usually honor seniors with a breakfast, but this year the schedule was too crowded. Instead, gifts of copper planters were given to Mallerd Maune, Phyllis Riegel, Joyce Haws, Virdean Dorman, and Janie Kurtz.

Committees for Homecoming are being organized for next year. Artistic ability is accredited to Bettelle Pitts and Pat Cooper who are in charge of both floats. The responsibility of taking another first on house decorations is given to Barbara Staley and Jeanne Goodson. Fran Cross, Betty Nazarene, and Evelyn Hillman have an opportunity to express their dramatic ambition by working on the skit.

Sports In Review

Northwest Missouri State College athletic teams completed another season of competition with the completion of track, tennis and golf schedules.

Over the year the Bearcat squads had a season that produced many individual standouts but failed to take championship honors in any of the MIAA races.

Coach Ryland Milner's football team started the year off with high hopes but after an opening game 27-13 defeat by Nebraska Wesleyan that produced painful injuries to at least two spark-plugs Jim Gillett and Don Black things never were again the same.

William Jewell after being held to a mere 7-0 halftime advantage broke loose in the final two periods to hand the Cats their second defeat 26-7.

An injury to Gil Obregon in practice before the Jewell game and the loss of Dave Meyers for the season further dampened the Bearcats' hopes.

Playing before the home crowd for the first time the locals broke a 16 year Rolla jinx by beating the Miners 12-7.

Darrell Walker and Obregon got the Bearcats touchdowns and Don Palmer, Ernie Hutchings and Carl Leffingwell stood out with some ferocious defensive line play.

Bolstered somewhat by the return of Obregon and heartened by the win over Rolla the Cats journeyed to Springfield hopeful of notching their second win in league play.

A poor second half and too many defensive mistakes opened the road for a 13-0 Springfield victory.

Obregon provided the spark that carried the Green and White to a 21-7 'Dads Night' victory over Ft. Hays.

It was by far the Milnerites best performance of the season and with Obregon looking his best Cat followers began to see a repeat of the 1952 teams showing when they finished strong to wind up in a conference tie with Kirksville.

A homecoming crowd of better than 6,000 saw the Cats keep their homecoming record defeatless as they pinned a 27-7 defeat on Warrensburg's Mules.

Mickey Mallen an unheard sub halfback scored twice and Walker and Obregon counted once apiece.

The Bearcat line so demoralized the Mule offense that the visitors were only able to muster a net gain of 44 yards from scrimmage.

Cape Girardeau spoiled the locals hopes for a championship tie with Kirksville by playing the Green and White to a 7-7 tie.

The game was strictly a defensive battle with Cape scoring in the first half and the Cats in the final minutes of the fourth period.

Kirksville blasted the locals 39-26 in the season's finale at Kirksville and the loss gave Milner's crew a 3-4-1 record.

Carl Leffingwell, Don Palmer and Gil Obregon were voted to place on the MIAA all star teams and Jim Gillett, Bill Baldwin and Ernie Hutchings were elected co-captains for the coming season.

On the basketball front the story was much the same as in football.

Lacking the one big man so necessary in the cage sport today Coach Dale Kessinger's crew managed to finish the season with an 8-12 record.

Highlight of the season found the locals winning a 62-57 decision over NAIA champion St. Benedict's.

Daryl Flint, in his first year of college competition, broke a school scoring record, was the leading scorer in MIAA circles and was named on the league all star team and selected as one of its co-captains.

In spring sports the locals had little success.

The track team, badly undermanned to begin with, lost letterman Don Burnside via an operation, had only limited service from conference 100 yard dash king Jack Spence, and had a hard time replacing George Coulter who won individual point honors at the conference meet during 1953.

The tennis and golf teams enjoyed very mediocre seasons but the net squad with freshman Paul Clark and Charlie Adair playing in the conference meet finished second to Warrensburg.

The outlook for next season in all sports should find the Cat athletes showing an improved record.

The football squad lost a great deal, the basketball squad though losing only one senior Maurice Ingram still is short the big men and the track tennis and golf squads should show some improvement.

Review of Bulletin

In a recent University of Missouri bulletin THE TEACHING OF HUMANITIES, accounts of the work of two members of the College faculty were included.

Dean W. A. Brandenburg had raised a question at a conference in Columbia on the teaching of the humanities and how this study should be directed. The question had provoked keen discussion and the meeting held that humanities could be taught properly only if the faculty and administration thoroughly understood the essential meaning and function of the course, realizing where emphasis and interests must lie.

Such a conviction once established would communicate itself to all teachers and act as a constant direction to them. Furthermore, it was held that it was essential that one group of students should wherever possible be taught throughout the entire course by the same teacher, the result being that the Dean's office, observing the performance of different groups, could give pertinent advice to teachers who seemed to need it.

In another part of the bulletin Mrs. Elaine Mauzey had summarized the discussion on the approach to the teaching of literature. The group had considered the problem of indoctrination, the degree of expertness that is to be required of a teacher in humanities, and the organization of a multiple course from the standpoint of mechanical and administrative details.

Among the ideas presented in her review was the one that a good teacher must be a good man, overwhelmingly concerned with his personal responsibility, a person with a certain degree of moral ethics, sophistication, and maturity.

Also was it expressed by the group that subject matter is subordinate to the development of the powers of analytical thinking, the acquisition of an aesthetic sense, and an acquaintance with great moral and ethical principles.
